THE following is from the Carson Appeal: All along the Big Meadows of the Humboldt, the ranchers are discharging their hands, and the once green fields of timothy and alfalfa are drying up for the want of water. This is because the Humboldt river is running nearly dry and there is no water for irrigation. If the various legislatures of this State had been composed of men of common sense, in years gone by, and if the State officers had been disposed to assist instead of hampered needed legislation, the Humboldt river would be running back full to-day, and the Big Meadows would not be drying up for the want of water. If the State ever expects to get on its feet it must do something for itself and have the nerve to spend a little money in doing it. We must begin to spend money for irrigation and the building of reservoirs to store water. In summer when wheat grows the farmers store the wheat for winter use, but in the winter when the water goes to waste he does not store the water for summer use. Few men have the capital to do this, therefore the people of the State through their representatives should see that provision is made for this work. They can never do it, however, as long as they send these "economy and reform" people to the legislature who vote against public improvements, fight all expenditures and insist that the only money spent by the State shall be that expended in paying their salaries and mileage. What they consider economy is really the most foolish and reckless extravagance. When it was every-where claimed that the State could not afford to spend the money to build storage reservoirs for irrigation, the excuse was met by a scheme to organize a lottery under a State franchise and pay $25,000 a year into the State Treasury. Had that bill become a law there would have been $50,000 on January 1, 1889, in the State Treasury for the benefit of irrigation. The bill, however, was fought tooth and nail by a lot of bogus moral reformers, and since that time over $200,000 has left this State to go to New Orleans. The men who persist in fighting for the Louisiana Lottery Company in this State had better go to Louisiana and live, instead of making Nevada their abiding place.

THE sentiment which has made electoral reform necessary has found its way into Congress as well as into many of the states. A bill has been reported favorably in the House, declaring that a candidate for nomination or election to House or Senate shall contribute nothing except "necessary expenditures." That there may be no misunderstanding of this term, necessary expenditures are enumerated and defined as expenses for "printing and traveling for dissemination of information to the public, and for political meetings, demonstrations and conventions." All of this is very creditable, but how it will protect a poorer aspirant against the longer purse of the richer, or reverse the well-settled maxim of Mr. Cleveland—that "the longest pole knocks the persimmon"—it is difficult to see.

BRO. GROVER of the Elko Independent basis that his paper was the first to print the National Democratic ticket, while the stars and stripes were flung to the breeze over his office. His diligence is to be commended, but it will, we are the full election returns in November are received.

MR. CLEVELAND'S success in using official machinery to secure his re-election ought to more strongly convince him of the correctness of his opinion promulgated nearly four years ago, that the President should be ineligible to succeed himself, but it doesn't seem to work that way this year.

THE Methodist General Conference gave the New York papers a proper rebuke for giving more attention to base ball games than to the meeting of a great religious church organization. Out in the wild and woolly west the papers take care of base ball and religious gatherings with equal neatness and dispatch, and win compliments from both.

A Special Car.
A special car came up from Carson City this morning to show their respect to the Pacific delegation bound for Chicago. Among the party was ex-Governor Kinkaid, R. A. Hoffer, D. A. Bender and wife, Alex. Ardway, J. C. Doyle, H. M. Yerrington, Hans Yerrington, Jas. Yerrington, Miss Yerrington, R. B. Parkinson, and others whose names could not be obtained.

BOCA.

Its Lumber, Ice and Brewing Business—Many Men Employed—No Chinese—Good Wages—Notes.
BOCA, June 9, 1888.

EDITORS GAZETTE: After leaving Truckee I sped on to this busy hive of industry, and am not sorry for having done so. I registered at the Boca Hotel, Mr. Sheritt proprietor. It is a large, commodious, well-lighted, clean and well-arranged caravansary. About four-fifths of the workmen on board at this place. The meals dealt out consist of good wholesome food, and therefore give entire satisfaction to the patrons. The sleeping apartments are in a neat and excellent condition. The house is located on a knoll, and visitors command a good view from the veranda of the surrounding country.

There are no Chinamen here any more than there are in Truckee. Some three hundred men are employed in the various industries, whose wages range from $2.50 to $3.25 per day. They are a hardy, healthy looking class of workmen, and spend their evenings in amusements furnished at Mr. McClellan's headquarters, where faro, stud, horse poker and music go hand in hand together. Occasionally a little too much benzine mixed with Boca beer causes the boys to become hilarious, particularly about payday. I learned this morning that Mr. Whitehead is superintendent, employs in the neighborhood of 350 men. They are engaged in handling ice and lumber and many of them working at the sawmills. The company have just completed another ice-house on the top of the hill on the north side of the Truckee, and have a force of men digging a tramway for a new railroad, so that next winter they can transport their ice with more ease for shipment. Immense quantities of ice is shipped from here annually, averaging in thickness from 18 to 28 inches, but next year they propose to be able to ship clear Truckee River ice in such quantities as to supply every demand. The men employed here get from $2.50 to $3.50 per day. At the

BOCA BREWERY.

Which is under the general management and direction of Mr. Kreutzner, I found that over forty men were employed and that their wages were from $75 to $100 per month. The men in general are composed of all nationalities and seem to get along very well together, all appearing to be big lusty fellows. They should be, as the work they perform is no child's play at all. Meeting Mr. Kreutzner, I accepted an invitation to go through the

MAMMOTH ESTABLISHMENT
In the Sierra. While passing through I kept up a running conversation with him, and what I failed to learn from actual observation I drew forth by inquisitorial drill driving. They have stored something over 5,000 tons of ice of their own, the most of which is packed in a house directly over their large cellar, which is 130x280 feet. In this cellar there are 100 tanks containing from 1,500 to 5,000 gallons of bear each. There are not less than 8,000 barrels of stock here now ready for consumption as soon as the hot weather sets in. The temperature in this cave-like structure is about 30 degrees Fahrenheit and is delightful in mid-summer. Big chunks of thick ice are packed between these immense tanks so that an even temperature is constantly kept up. The water used in the manufacture of this beer comes direct from the neighboring foothills, out of a

NATURAL SPRING,
And this alone is used for brewing purposes. They have all the water facilities they desire for other purposes and I can assure you that large quantities of it are appropriated for keeping the brewery in a neat and clean condition. In fact, the place is as clean as the floor and all the surroundings are as clean as any table board in the country. The company have made many improvements in the past year, so that you can hardly recognize any old lumber in the entire structure. The bottling establishment is running to its full capacity, car-loads of barrels containing six dozen bottles each with boxes of two dozen each being shipped almost daily throughout California and Nevada. They have a fine pond where they secure about 800 tons of ice every winter and it lies right opposite the brewery. The remainder of the ice needed is secured from the Boca Mill Co. It is remarkable what quantities of this pure Truckee river ice is needed to run such a vast enterprise as this. Over the cellar above the ice is packed solid to a height of sixteen feet and that cellar is in area 24x240 feet. Your readers can imagine what a quantity that is. The water from the spring referred to has been analyzed in New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago and San Francisco and pronounced pure and chemically as the purest and best for brewing purposes ever tested in this country. Mr. Kreutzner and wife live in a neat cottage near by, where all that is calculated to make home pleasant can be found. After dining with them and listening to several selections on the piano by his good wife I departed, astonished at the magnitude of this enterprise, which to write more fully of would occupy too much space in my journal.

There are quite a number of men employed at what is called Camp 16, about one mile west of here, in the lumber trade. The most of them are under the superintendency of Dan Keefe of Reno, and they too earn good wages, none receiving less than $2.50 per day.

Gene Jones of Empire and Jim Wren of Genoa will ride twelve bucking broncos apiece at Gardnerville, on July 4th, for $150 a side. The man getting thrown the least times takes the money.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Family Brake Causes a Terrible Accident.

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 9.—A shocking accident occurred at Congress Springs, twelve miles from here, this afternoon. A wagon loaded with bottled mineral water was on the way down the grade from the springs to the hotel. Besides the driver there were on the wagon two boys and three little girls, all guests at the hotel.

When about 250 yards from the house the brake gave way and the plunges plunged down the grade and fell in a heap, the wagon being demolished and the occupants thrown to the ground.

Among the number was Charles Dolbeer, and the 13-year-old son of John Dolbeer, the San Francisco merchant. The boy was frightfully injured about the head and body and was picked up in a dying condition and carried to the hotel, where he died at 6:15 o'clock.

Mr. Dolbeer was notified and arrived at the springs this evening. The injuries of the others are not serious.

Hanged by His Mother.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—A special from Springfield, Mo., says there is great excitement at Greenfield, the county seat of Dade county, over what was at first supposed to be a suicide, but which turned out to be a murder. On Sunday morning George, the 14-year-old son of Mrs. Stoffe, a widow living on a farm near Springfield, was found hanging dead in the barn. The general belief is that the time pointed to suicide. The mother's grief took a very violent form, and she was placed under restraint, when it transpired that she had threatened the boy's life. In a loud moment it was ascertained that she had dragged the boy with morphine, then dragged him into the barn and hanged him.

A Criminal's Confession.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 10.—Blind Bigamist Samuel Fleming, who has lived in every State from Minnesota to Florida, confessed to-day that he was one of a gang of counterfeiters whose operations extend across the continent from San Francisco to New York. Their specialty is a twenty dollar greenback, of which they claim to have a plate which was slightly disfigured in preparing the original. He gives the name of a bank in San Francisco upon which the gang made a successful operation. The Chief of Police is in correspondence with the San Francisco officials to verify the story.

Unable to Agree.

BOSTON, June 9.—Nearly all of the Massachusetts delegates to Chicago and several members of the State Central Committee dined together in this city last evening and informally discussed candidates. An effort was made to unite the delegates on one man, but the attempt failed. The delegation is divided in its preferences between Graham, Sherman, Harrison and Dewey. It was thought that Dewey might become the general choice, but it may be said authoritatively that the delegation cannot be united in his favor.

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

The following platform and resolutions were adopted by the Republican State Convention, which convened at Winnemucca on the 15th instant:

The Republicans of the State of Nevada, in Convention assembled, again express their loyalty to the principles of the Republican party, which have made this our so great and prosperous during the last quarter of a century.

Resolved, That the question of a sufficient supply of circulating medium to maintain a permanent range of the price of labor and property is the most important political question awaiting solution by the American people.

That a diminishing quantity of money reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

That the present financial system of the United States, which increases or diminishes the circulating medium at the pleasure of the manipulators of the national banks, without regard to the interests of the people, or the wants of the country, and which recognizes gold alone as the standard of value, and places in the hands of the Treasury Department all the revenue of the Government to be expended at the discretion of the Government, is a system of speculation, which is a source of revenue to the Government, but a source of ruin to the people, and a source of ruin to the country.

That a financial policy whereby both gold and silver shall form the basis of circulation, whether the money used by the people be coin, or coin certificates redeemable in coin, or both, as convenience may require, is imperatively demanded.

That the attempt to substitute national bank notes, costing the Government millions of dollars annually, for free silver, costing nothing, is an outrage upon the people; that the money ring or trust, which has usurped the sovereign power of the Government to issue money, and which has fraudulently demonstrated its power and its revenue of the Government for private speculation, shocks the moral sense of the people and destroys respect for government and law. We demand that this ring or trust be destroyed, and equal rights be restored to all the people.

We charge that President Cleveland is the willing tool or agent of a powerful money ring, which nations on the basis of silver, makes money out of the backs of the Government, makes war on silver, issues its paper currency at the expense of the Government, borrows money from the Government by taxation and uses them without the payment of interest, contracts the currency to enhance the value of bonds, and enriches usurers, while it depresses the price of labor and property.

That we favor the nomination of no man for President who is personally interested in national banks or the bonded indebtedness of the United States, and we demand a candidate who is free to do justice to all the people of the country—the poor as well as the rich.

That the trick of the President and his advisers by which they prevented

Accidental Drowning.

Joseph Joy, aged 23 years, a son of Thomas Joy of Virginia City, went to Steamboat Saturday morning. Soon after his arrival he went to the swimming bath, and remaining there as Mr. Murphy, the proprietor, thought, too long, he requested one of his men to go to the bath and inform Mr. Joy it was injurious to remain in the water so long. On arriving he observed young Joy's clothing but did not see him, and thinking him drowned, gave the alarm. On examination of the bottom of the pool his lifeless body was found. His friends were notified, also was Coroner H. W. Brown, who went to Steamboat and held the inquest. The remains were taken by the father to Virginia City. The deceased was a nephew of W. H. Joy of this place.

Justice Court.

The Justice Court is doing a brisk business in disposing of the law breakers. Yesterday and to-day there were twelve cases. Those sentenced went up for ten to thirty days. Two drunken squaws repose in the cooler. It is a problem how best to dispose of the vag element, who get arrested for the purpose of being lodged and fed for a while. Would it not be a good idea for the Commissioners to pile up the stones lying around loose, purchase a few hammers and set them to work breaking stone? This policy adopted, broken stone could be obtained to macadamize the streets in a short time.

The United States Grand Jury at Carson City, on Friday, ignored the bill against the Postmaster at Mineral Hill, Eureka County. He used $800 of government money, but remitted the amount soon afterwards.

The Carson plasterers are howling because a Reno man got a contract in that city at living prices, after they had refused the work at five cents per yard more than is paid. If competition is driven out of any town or country it will soon be ready to fence in.

Virginia is Moving.

Since Carson City has thrown up the sponge and the Governor revoked his order calling the militia to Carson City on the Fourth the leading citizens of Virginia City have issued a call for to-morrow evening to make arrangements to celebrate on a grand scale the 12th anniversary of the declaration of American Independence. The indications are that the I. O. O. F. will postpone their picnic, join in with the citizens and have a gala day, in which the good citizens of Carson will be invited to participate. The genial and generous John Piper has tendered the free use of his opera house for the exercises after the parade.

Our New Building.

A private letter from Senator Stewart says there is a fair prospect of the bills appropriating $60,000 for a public building in Reno, and $25,000 for one in Virginia City, as they have passed the Senate, becoming law at an early date. The Senator says the reason the amount for Virginia City was made so small, Congress is adverse to making large expenditures in any mining town.

Roll of Honor.

Following is the report of the Spanish Spring Valley School, Julie C. Wintermantel, teacher, for the month ending June 8th, 1888: Frank Dunning, Roy Gowles, Willie Dunning, Bessie Thompson, Geatrude Clute, James Gordon, Mary Laking.

"Penny Wise and Pound Foolish."

That's what men are who plot along trying to do their business when they feel half dead. Their eyes are dim and throbs; their head aches; the children annoy them; their wives lose their charms; they lose their ambition; they make mistakes in their accounts; and the whole world looks blue; they hate themselves and everyone else. And why? If you feel so, why don't you stop and think a minute—or are you too stupid? Your liver and blood are out of order; that's why. You need a good regulator and tonic. Take a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you will feel like a new man. In three days your wife will be the prettiest and sweetest woman in the world; your children's dispositions will be exactly like your own; your business will improve and you will make money. Don't pay for the Golden Medical Discovery any more than you would for a good bottle of medicine. Don't be stubborn, but try it.

If you suffer from cold in the head, or from Neural Catarrh, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cures when everything else fails.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with abscess of lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Begun taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and now on my third bottle, and able to overtake the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Test, Middletown, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of lung troubles. I was given up by the doctors. Am now in the best of health. Try it. Sample bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson & Co.'s drug store."

Do not take quinine for malarial diseases. Ayer's Cure contains no such poisonous or injurious ingredients. This preparation, if taken strictly in accordance with directions, is warranted to cure all malarial diseases.

Pneumonia can be quickly and permanently cured by adding the Powder to be found with each bottle of Fryer's true Abietene Cough Balsam. (It contains no Opium). Price, 75 cents. Sold by W. Pinner's. All genuine Abietene preparations bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

OFF FOR CHICAGO.

The Pacific Coast Delegation through to Chicago—Glorious Reception at Reno—Eloquent Speeches—Both Sexes Jubilant—Patriotism, Jealousy and Victory—Nevada's Delegation—Blaine, Depew, Alger, Graham—Either Will Win—So say They All.

Reno, this morning, resembled a Fourth of July celebration more than anything else. At the Depot Hotel hundreds of our leading citizens, with their wives, their sisters and their cousins and their aunts, assembled to greet the delegates to the National Republican Convention, which convenes at Chicago on June 19th inst. The populace was out in holiday attire and attracted many complimentary remarks from the passing strangers. Our lady population appeared to great advantage, filling the balcony and being interspersed among the enthusiastic audience on the large platform, they lent much color to the scene. The stars and stripes were flung to the breeze by many a fair daughter of Nevada, while handkerchiefs of different hues glistened in the noonday sunshine as the train came in.

THE IRON HORSE.

Conveying this hopeful and self-confident representation of genuine Americanism was bedecked with evergreens and American flags in abundance, while the winners of the seven special award medals, selected sleeping and dining cars were alive with human faces, and the true and simple symbol of American liberty, a small silk

STAR SPANGLED BANNER.

Having in its center a well-executed impression in gold of the well-known California bear, was waved to the breeze as the train stopped suddenly, when three rousing cheers went up from the assembled multitude for the success of the Republican party. In a moment Col. C. C. Crocker, Col. Creed Haymond, H. Z. Osborne, M. M. Estee, Alex. Badiam, Paris Kilbourn, Corporal Tanner and others stepped upon the platform wearing the badges of the Pacific Coast delegation and holding in their hands one of the small silk flags referred to above. They were warmly welcomed and in a second afterwards

HON. ROBERT LINDSEY.

Mounted an improvised platform, and in the name of the Republican party of Nevada, welcomed this patriotic delegation, and wishing them God-speed and success for whatever they might be instrumental in accomplishing at Chicago, proposed three cheers for the Pacific Coast delegation, which were given with a will. Loud cries for Estee, Haymond, M. H. DeYoung, of the San Francisco Chronicle, Badiam, and Corporal Tanner followed. Hon. M. M. Estee stood up and gazing out on the upturned and eager looking faces, said in a few brief words: "We are on our way to Chicago to nominate a candidate for President of these United States, and we will return again only to tell you that we will elect him. We will nominate and elect a President who believes in American industry thriving as against all foreign competition. We will nominate and elect a man who is an American at heart and who has greater regard for the triumph of Republican principles than the success of the English aristocracy, and I think that man is Hon. James G. Blaine" [cheers].

Hon. Creed Haymond was the next speaker, and in his own inimitable style electrified the vast throng by his comparison of Blaine with Cincinnati when he said the nation was in peril on account of the encroachments of foreign capital, intrigue and subversive duplicity, on the part of the dictatorial propensities of the party now so vigorously striving to succeed itself by waving the red banner of revolution in the face of the glorious old

STAR SPANGLED BANNER.

(Loud cheers.) Here he pulled the little silk emblem from his bosom when three lusty cheers rent the air. "Yes, he continued, we will call him (Blaine) again to the helm Cincinnati-like, and ask the good mothers of this Republic, as did the nations of Rome the noble mother of Coriolanus, to strengthen his candidacy. We will nominate and elect him, and save the country from the impending dangers which now threaten the Nation's very existence under the folds of the RED FLAG.

Which has been twisted to the mast of the Democratic party and which is symbolical of the horrible scenes which were enacted under it during the dark days of the French Revolution and more recently the anarchistic mobs of Chicago. Loud cheering followed.

Corporal Tanner, who circumnavigated the globe after the civil war, closed, carrying the American flag, so that all the nations might see this glorious symbol of liberty, then mounted the stand and in a brief and witty way amused the audience by telling a very funny story about a mule, applying it to the head and tail of the Democratic ticket, and as he stepped down, evoked much merriment.

Hon. Robert Lindsey then bid the delegation from the entire coast a God speed and assured them that the nomination of James G. Blaine would bring joy and gladness to the heart of every loyal citizen of the Pacific Coast, and would secure the electoral vote of Nevada for the Plumed Knight, beyond all peradventure. Amid loud cheering and ringing of bells, the gay and enthusiastic party sped off, followed by the best wishes of the liberty-loving portion of the people of the battle-born State.

This great body of distinguished people were joined by the Nevada delegation and it is useless to say that congenial spirits met when Nevada's contingent swelled the throng. Governor Stevenson and wife, Evan Williams and family, who has not been home for over twenty years, Alf. Chantz, who returns after a quarter of a century's absence to see his native heath, Mrs. James of Gold Hill and Joe Harlow and wife, State Printer, delegate to National Convention of the A. O. U. W. to be held at Louisville on the 19th inst., with Col. Thaxter, the Chauncey Depew delegate, will hold their own, we trust, with the California patriots.

The center of attraction was the car, on each side of which was an elegant banner with the following inscription: "Pacific Coast Delegation to Chicago National Convention at Chicago June 19th 1888." In the center of these were finely executed paintings of the California bear. The badge worn by the party consisted of a plain gold piece on which was engraved National Republican Convention and to it was suspended a gold California bear. The flag was presented by Creed Haymond to the GAZETTE man and he will keep it to take to Washington in 1889.

How Guncotton is Made.

It is not generally known that there is but one place in the United States where guncotton is manufactured, and such is the case. This is at the torpedo station in Newport Harbor. In the manufacture of guncotton the best cotton waste and the strongest and purest nitric and sulphuric acids are used for the explosive. The cotton waste after it has been hand-picked for the purpose of removing the dirt and grit, is placed in boiling tanks, where it is allowed to remain for four hours. It is afterward subjected to a thorough washing and is reboiled. The operation removes all oily matter and leaves the cotton harsh and stiff. It is then dried in the rooms heated with the waste air from a drying box. After undergoing this treatment the cotton rolls up into snarls and bunches, and in order that the acid may have a freer access to it is passed through a shredder and converted into a fluffy state. It is afterward exposed in an air-tight box for 24 hours to a temperature of 200 degrees, which practically deprives it of all moisture. From the air-tight box it is removed to the dipping room, where there are iron troughs filled with one part nitric acid and two parts of sulphuric acid. Into these troughs the cotton is placed, one bundle at a time, and allowed to remain about ten minutes, long enough for it to be thoroughly soaked. The acid is hand-pressed from the cotton, which is then placed in covered earthen jars, where it remains twenty-four hours undergoing chemical transformation. In view of the fact that much heat is evolved during the chemical reaction, it is found necessary to place the jars in pots and surround them with flowing water, which serves to keep them cool. The cotton is now nitrated and is practically gun-cotton, but the acid, still mechanically held, must be wholly removed or it would be apt to quickly deteriorate and become extremely dangerous. The charges, therefore, are taken one by one and placed in an acid wringer and plunged into a large tub which is kept filled with running water, in which a large wheel is rapidly turned in order to subject the cotton to a thorough washing. This latter process is continued till no acid is perceptible to the taste. It is then subjected to a still further washing and boiling in an alkaline mixture, this being necessary to remove every trace of acid. The cotton is now in long shreds and balls, which can be used or stored without danger, the processes of conversion and cleaning being completed, but for military use it must be put into a more compact form. For this purpose the gun-cotton in charges of 300 pounds is thrown into a pulping tub, where, mixed with water, it is ground by steel cutters into a fine pulp. The grinding and breaking up of the cellular tissue of the cotton has made it more or less dirty, and it is necessary, therefore, to expose it to frequent washings in the poaching tubs, from which, after treating it with lime water to make the moisture slightly alkaline, it is drawn up into a large iron tank, where it is fed to the molds, which under a moderate pressure, press the water from the pulp and trim out cylinders of cotton about eight inches high and three and a half inches in diameter. These cylinders are then placed under a hydraulic press and exposed to the pressure of about 1,700 pounds to the square inch or about eight tons on each. The cylinders are pressed into hard cakes or disks, some two inches high and three and a half inches in diameter, with a specific gravity a little greater than water. They are then packed in boxes of fifty pounds each and kept in magazines for general use. Guncotton is, from its great explosive power and the conditions of safety attached to its storage, superior to any other known explosive for naval warfare.

Great Men and Gastronomy.

Dr. Fordyce, the distinguished English surgeon, ate but one meal a day. Dr. Parr confessed his love for hot boiled lobsters with a profusion of shrimp sauce. Pope says: One loves the pheasant's wing and one the vulgar boil, the learned roast an egg. Dryden said that a chine of honest bacon pleased his appetite more than all the marrow puddings.

Sir Isaac Newton, when writing his "Principia," lived on a scanty allowance of bread and water and a vegetable diet. Dr. Johnson was partial to new honey and clouted cream, and all his lifetime had a voracious attachment for a leg of mutton.

Dr. Paley, having been out fishing for a whole day, was asked on his return if he had met with good sport. "Oh, yes!" he answered. "I have caught no fish, but I have made a sermon."

Beau Brummel, speaking of a man who was fond of eating small fish, said to himself: "If you eat one another I see no reason why we may not eat you." He accordingly dined on the cod with no small degree of pleasure.

"Now look here, John Grap," said Mrs. Grap, a few days ago, "you needn't be bringin' home any more of them expensive books what you said was bound in Turkey. I reckon that books bound in this country is plenty good enough for you and me."

We are in a danger of having too much culture in this country. An aesthetic buff-colored pug recently went mad in Boston because his mistress dressed him in a light green blanket.
